Emily Meyer, Ph.D.

Biography
Dr. Emily Meyer is an Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice at Norwich University. Broadly, she is a family and child ecologist and qualitative methodologist who adopts an ecological approach to understanding the experiences of crime victims. In addition to her scholarly work and teaching, she is also trained in crisis counseling and advocacy interventions for victims of sexual assault, IPV, stalking and harassment.

Courses/teaching philosophy
- CJ 101 - Introduction to Criminal Justice
- CJ 305 - Juvenile Justice
- CJ 312 - Corrections
- CJ 306 – Victimology

Research Interests
Dr. Meyer maintains a research program in the field of intimate partner violence (IPV) and homicide (IPH), primarily focusing on mass media portrayals of gendered crimes and the phenomenon of collateral intimate partner homicide (CIPH). CIPH occurs when individuals outside the primary intimate relationship are murdered within the context of ongoing IPV. Other interests include: the intersection of IPV and drug dependence and implementing/evaluating evidence-based advocacy programs for survivors of sexual and domestic violence.
